Approved For Release 2003/02/27 : CIA-RDP80B01721R003000210031-6

The attached letter from [ ] indicates he will be in town sometime this week and asks if he may see you.

Do you wish me to talk to him and have him see the proper people if necessary?

You may also wish to "shake his hand" if he comes in.

Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith
Director of Central Intelligence
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear General Smith:

I feel encouraged by your several letters to advise you of my arrival in the United States and to renew my offer to be at your service or at the disposal of any one of your associates you might want to delegate for contact with me.

Through a friend of mine, I have recently placed into the hands of Admiral Souers a certain formula developed by a [redacted] [redacted] chemist working in a State-owned factory revived under my direction while I served as [redacted] [redacted] I trust that it has reached you and hope that it might be of some use to our common cause.

My experience in post-war [redacted] especially that with the Soviet military authorities now appears in an entirely new light and enables me to draw what I regard as important conclusions of urgent topical nature. I would also be eager to discuss with you or your associates a specific situation that is rapidly assuming a character likely to be detrimental to the interests of the free world.

I plan to go to Washington very early next week and to be there Tuesday and Wednesday. Could you then see me?

With the expression of my greatest esteem, I remain,

very truly yours,
